1. In the first half of July 1953, many railway transports were observed passing through Volen (49/074) enroute to Mlesovce-Laza (49/072), which is the retraining station for Oremov Laz, the senior training center. Large-scale maneuvers were believed to be taking place there at the time.
2. In early July, many reservists residing in Bratislava were called up by telegram and had to depart immediately for refresher training (presumably in Oremov Laz). An intensive campaign to recruit women for voluntary military service was initiated.
